Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

Reference is made to the following document/s/:

- D1: US-A-4 568 551 (SEEWI GILA ET AL) 4 February 1986 (1986-02-04)
- D2: EP-A-1 249 172 (NESTLE SA) 16 October 2002 (2002-10-16)

1. Present claim 9 which is formulated as independent claim does not meet the requirements of Art. 6 PCT, as the formulation 'composition according to the invention' is unclear and leaves the reader in doubt as to the subject-matter to which this claim is directed.
As the sole technical feature which this claim contains is a list of specific starch-containing matters as defined in claim 1, this claim is considered for the following opinion as if referring to the independent claim 1.
2. The subject-matter of the sole independent claim 1 meets the requirement of Art. 33(2) PCT as none of D1-D3 appears to disclose a food product comprising a fat component having the triglyceride profile as defined in present claim 1.
3. Both D1 and D2 are considered to represent the most relevant state of the art. D1 discloses a process for the preparation of a dehydrated base product for thickened sauces and soups using from 20-75% by weight of a starchy material, 25-80% by weight of a melted hardened edible fat and from 0,5 to 15% by weight of water (cf. in particular the examples 1-3, 3a, 4 and 4a and col. 3, l. 57-col. 4, l. 45); the final water content in the grated dehydrated product being between 3-6% (cf. examples). The product of D1 disperses in hot water and forms thick, creamy and lump-free products. D2 discloses in example 3 flakes comprising 17% potato starch, 47% wheat flour and 37% fat component comprising interesterified palm oil (55%) and totally hydrogenated palm oil (45%) (cf. example 1) to be used in dehydrated food products for soups or sauces. The fat component used as well as the resulting food products comprise low content of trans fatty acids (cf. less than 3% trans fatty acids in the fat component).
D3 further discloses in the example in col. 4,a granular instant preparation comprising hydrogenated palm oil and wheat flour).

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

International application No. PCT/EP 03/12032

The subject-matter of present claim 1 differs from D1 and D2 in the specific triglyceride profile.

The problem to be solved by the present invention may be regarded as providing an alternative food composition.

Neither hint nor suggestion can be found in D1-D3 to provide a food composition comprising at said levels starchy matter and triglycerides of fatty acids, the triglycerides having a fatty acid profile as defined in present claim 1.

Hence, the subject-matter of claim 1 appears to meet the requirements of Art. 33(3) PCT.

4. Claims 2-14 are dependent on claim 1 and as such also meet the requirements of the PCT with respect to novelty and inventive step (Art. 33(2) and (3) PCT).
5. The subject-matter of claims 1-14 is applicable in the food industry (Art. 33(4) PCT).
